U.S. Rep. Jeff Fortenberry borrowed from Larry the Cable Guy to conclude his August town hall meetings outlining issues facing America and encouraging Nebraskans to be a part of the solution.

"We're Nebraskans. We invented the phrase Git-R-Done," he said.

After seven town hall meetings, which began in Lincoln Aug. 7 and concluded in Nebraska City Monday, the 1st District congressman said there is lingering sentiment that the government appears incapable of working constructively on issues, such as deficit spending and the national debt.

Click here to read more.