

Touring Christensen Lumber on Tuesday, U.S. Rep. Jeff Fortenberry leaned in and asked employee after employee what they were building.

He wasn't there to make a speech. Instead, it was a sort of fact-finding mission.

Not only did the 1st District representative learn about the company that now includes a fourth generation of the Christensen family, but he heard concerns about health care and welfare benefits.

Click here to read more.